Section 4 of the Bombay Electricity (Emergency Powers) Act, 1946 imposes an obligation upon a consumer not to exceed without the permission of the Provincial Government the maximum demand in k.w. of electrical energy recorded in respect of him during the period specified and not to connect load beyond that notified in writing to the licensee up to the 31st January 1943. The section does not however, empower the Government to prescribe a form of an application for obtaining such permission. The form sent for scrutiny in so far as it refers to the connected load or maximum demand cannot legally be prescribed under section 5 of the Act which empowers Government to prescribe a form of application for obtaining permission for (i) the new supply (ii) the increase in the supply and (iii) the resumption of a supply in the case of two different types of consumers.

2. The Public Works Department may however approve by an executive order the form of application in respect of matters specified in section 4. The form to be prescribed under section 5 may be amended in the light of the observation made in the preceding para. and sent for R.L.A.'s scrutiny if necessary.
